

Welcome to Barista™ !

Choose Your Language

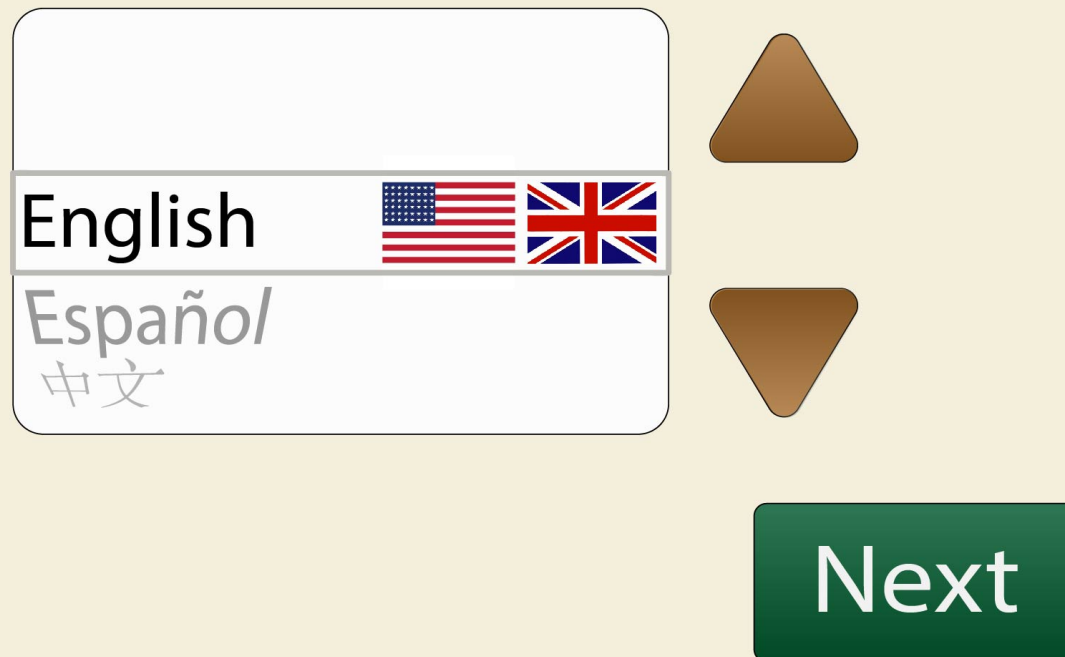

Image 1. Shows the welcome screen. The languages are listed in a scrolling menu so that the number of languages offered does not greatly change the appearance of the design (as it would with, for example, 5 vs. 10 clickable boxes). All text on the screen changes language as the user toggles through languages.

Image 3. Shows the add-ins selection screen with “2% Milk” and one additional espresso shot selected. The “Additional Espresso Shots” menu shows only if the user selected a hot drink. The system will not permit the selection of more than three add-ins. If the user attempts to select a fourth add-in, a pop-up window will appear with the message “You already have three add-ins” and list the three chosen add-ins, and the user will click an “Ok” button to return to the add-in screen.

Image 4. Shows the review order and insert payment screen. The “Edit” button yields a pop-up window with four buttons: “Edit This Drink” and “Remove this Drink,” and “Back” and “Next” buttons appearing at the bottom corners of the window. The “Add Drink” button appears only when there are one or two drinks ordered. Once payment is inserted, an additional pop-up window appears to ask the user to confirm the amount, and to enter a PIN number in the case of a debit card. If the user leaves the kiosk without paying, the program will time out after 30 seconds and return to the welcome screen.

Watch Your Cappuccino Fill Itself!

22 Seconds Until Full

Image 5. Shows a snapshot of the infotainment the user will watch as they wait for their coffee. The coffee in the cup dances upward until the cup is full. Once the coffee is done, a box appears in the center of the screen with the message “Done! Pick Up Your Drink,” and animated arrows appear at the bottom of the screen to indicate that the coffee is situated below the screen. If the order contains more than one drink, the user will watch this infotainment again as the next drink is filled. Once the last drink is taken out of the machine, a screen with the Starbucks logo and the message “Thank You for Using Starbucks Barista™” appears.
